

I am against personal cellular phone use during flights. The seating is tight enough, and with passengers able to make cell phone calls the noise level in the cabin will increase dramatically, and having to sit next to someone having an otherwise private conversation is unacceptable in such a tight space. Please, please do not adopt this rule.